RIDG-U-RAK

Powder Coat Process

Ridg-U-Rak's two new state-of-the-art 1200-foot powder coat spray lines can coat up to 14-foot beams, upright frames and various other rack components. The lines feature ergonomically-friendly load tables, three-stage wash and dry and cool down chambers. Environmentally controlled rooms house high efficiency Nordson powder coating systems and control centers. A superior hybrid-formulated powder coating is applied producing a consistent, attractive and durable finish. Advanced curing ovens and cool down chambers complete the process. Finally, the rack components move through inspection to final packaging.

This powder coat process produces a high quality, durable interior finish that meets or exceeds rack industry standards. For outdoor use, or special environments, a different type of coating is recommended and can be furnished upon request.
